

Sakshi Manocha

Counselor

Education: B.A (Hons.) Applied Psychology, M.A (Clinical Psychology), Ph.D (Pursuing)

Experience: 2 months

Areas of interest: Dealing with children with special needs and helping them to have fully functioning life.

Ms. Sakshi Manocha has been working as a counselor and has expertise in developing good rapport and Educational program. She has worked along with many students having reading and writing difficulties using remedial strategies using remedial strategies to help them learning with unique methods.

Her journal explored the stress, anxiety and depression among parents during prenatal period and her present thesis is related to language development, and how it helps in thinking and problem solving.